Emotional	What your product makes people feel.
	E.g. Your sweatshirt makes its wearer feel like they look edgy.
Self -	What your austamer thinks awaing your product as a shout there
Self - expressive	What your customer thinks owning your product says about them
	E.g. Your sweatshirt makes its wearer feel as if people will see them as a trendsetter.
	Positioning statement
This is a short phrase that describes what you do. It will be easiest to write it once you have all the information above. You will use this statement in all your communications This is not a slogan or mission statement.
Example: For the denim wearer looking for a fashionable and durable pair of jeans, Levis is the original inventor of the blue jean and brings 150 years of manufacturing experience to every pair. Unlike other jean manufacturers, Levis adheres to a strong set of values: empathy, originality, integrity, and courage. – Levi Jeans
